

Crossing the Event Horizon

Presented by Nassim Hamein

Introduction:

Crossing the Event Horizon creates a wonderful bridge for unification of our spiritual “inner knowing” and “guidance” to the scientific principles of the external world.

If we are ever to understand nature from the tiniest sub-atomic particle within our bodies to the awesome wonder of the cosmos, we must change the focus of study and learn with our hearts as well as our minds.

Many disciplines have presented positive findings that our hearts have the same neurons flashing as does our brain, in fact some shown that the heart has its own intelligence. The defined connection in their research today shows these flashing neurons of heart and brain integrates our thoughts, emotions and feelings, which all work in unison.

Nassim Hamein is a pioneer of new ideas, who has stepped forward and offered us a wealth of new information to unify the inner heart space which is the inner knowing part of all humanity and our surrounding world with the mind space, or intellectual part of humanity that understands the math, equations and factual evidence gleaned from scientific inquiry, observation and repetition of processes in the external world.

The inner heart space is the part of humanity that strives for unity, works with compassion and searches for answers that relate this inherent inner connection with the visible external world. Solutions sought from the inner heart space extend with love and kindness to improve the suffering of humanity and the inner heart space longs to understand this connection as humanity strives for unity in our world.

Spirituality is the recognition of the natural connection and unity of the inner knowing to a Universal Source of information and energy that connects mankind to the source of all creation in every moment. This spiritual connection allows healing to take place at the cellular level without external devices, purely based on intent and requests made through prayer and the inner conviction that the energy has unlimited potential. Nassim explains in terms of basic physics and his own multi-dimensional experiences, how our understanding of this unification is the key frequency of harmonic resonance in our lives.

Therefore, as we understand that the flow of energy in the universe travels through the physicality of each individual, we will also understand that the focused intent allows the healing to take place. Science and religion classify these reported healings as “miracles” or unknown events from the unseen portion of our external world. Understanding the physics of these miracles is the science of spirituality.

Another area that abounds with this spiritual connection is the beauty of the cosmos in the night sky that takes our breath away and weaves the fabric of our inherent spirituality. I am sure you have all felt the wonder of the awesome beauty of this vastness, which our natural connection recognizes.

As Nassim explains in his courses we truly are a part of every star and galaxy in the patterns of this unity. Research shows this as our amino acids have been found in the constellation of Orion, which is billions of light years away. This scientific observation validates that the field of cosmology contains many patterns of unification at our cellular and atomic level. Cosmology and astro physics are spirituality in measure and motion.

Our civilization will be at peace, when we live in unison with, and understand the principles of inclusion. In the vastness of our world there are multiple paths that individuals choose for their experience and learning. Nassim’s work presents one of these paths of experience to show us that we are space, we are the stars and we vibrate at the cellular level in unison throughout infinity.

Science is the field of inquiry into nature that is supposed to help us understand how our world is constructed so that we may apply the proven findings in our lives to create applications in our world for the betterment of mankind.

The scientific process is an important aspect of understanding our external world and is very respected and necessary. Science is also on the threshold of greater abilities of observation as the new electronic microscopes have reached the nano and pico scale of measurement, which involves the atomic and sub-atomic scales of the former unseen portion of reality. This also opens the door to understanding our DNA and the myriad amounts of folding proteins and amino acids within those strands, which allow us to see for the first time, a new bridge to understanding the natural self-regeneration and natural healing processes of our cells. This knowledge will expand in the coming years to benefit both alternative healing and traditional medicine.

Many new technologies that result from the fields of scientific inquiry are key contributions to society, arising from years of research and development, along with new drugs and therapies for illness. However, the nature of the scientific process reinforces the continued study of specific targeted areas of the physical body for healing and keeps medicine in the separation mode, rather than the whole mind/body unification process for health.

It is Nassim’s hope that presentation of this new Unified Field Theory will enhance and integrate all scientific modes of inquiry as the principles are applied. Albert Einstein was very disappointed that he was not able to develop his work to include this unification before his death.

Therefore, it could be said that the next step in the evolution of humanity is the unification of the scientific disciplines and their methods of observation and discovery of the external world with the spiritually connected patterns and inner knowledge of humanity.

Nassim's course is robust and attempts to cross the bridge of consciousness to unify these modes of learning and experience with the goal of providing a more complete understanding of how our world works from the sub-atomic energy of the unseen dimension to the magnificent macro events of the cosmos.

It is also intended to create an understanding that the study of science and cosmology are spiritually unified. Whether your background is in one of the many scientific disciplines or from the mind/body alternative healing practices, this basic unification theory will lead you to a new body of knowledge that can be shared through your inherent vibrations that resonate through space as a connecting link.

It is our hope that you will find a space in your heart that resonates with both the science and the spiritual areas of exploration presented here, which you can then apply in your own area of expertise. We offer this journey as the gift that opens the door to your next destination. Cross the bridge with us and experience a new awareness that creates joy and harmony in your life.
